The map displays a network of points and lines over a satellite image of a forested area. The points are labeled with codes indicating land use or infrastructure types, such as 'ForetConifere', 'Autre', 'transport', 'PrairieSeche', 'ZoneConstruite', 'lisiere', and 'ForetMixe'. The lines, primarily yellow, connect these points, forming a complex web. A prominent black line also traverses the map, possibly representing a major road or boundary. The background shows a mix of green forest and brown cleared land, with some roads and small structures visible.
